Nikki Conklin for Madison Common Council District 9 Officially on the Ballot

Last Wednesday, Nikki Conklin - candidate for Madison Common Council District 9 - turned in her required nomination signatures and completed the necessary paperwork for getting on the ballot for the election this spring.

At this time there are four candidates in the race. Conklin is the only woman, and candidate of color, on the ballot for the February 16 primary. Conklin said that she and her campaign team collected three times the number of signatures required in support of her candidacy. Voters are encouraged to request their mail-in ballots now for the February primary, and may find information at Nikki.Vote.
